

Public-private partnerships and its features in Ukraine

O.V. Kovalyova, graduate student of economic theory and public administration department

the Donetsk National Technical University

Elena-v1987@yandex.ru

Research methodology: Using a systematic approach the state of public-private partnership in Ukraine was examined and the main features and principles and the establishment and development of public-private partnership in the country must respond to, were identified.

Results: The formation and the current state of public-private partnership in Ukraine were analyzed. The essence of social and economic role of public-private partnerships in the context of limited budget resources for the expanded reproduction of the economy was investigated. The necessity of its implementation for the development of the Ukrainian economy was justified. The main features and principles which the establishment and development of public-private partnerships must respond, were defined.

Novelty: The objective prerequisites for the formation of public-private partnership in Ukraine were disclosed. The main problems hindering the implementation of public-private partnership in Ukraine were determined, and the recommendations on their elimination were given.

The practical significance: On the basis of the theoretical study the recommendations for the development of public-private partnership in Ukraine were developed.