

Development of modern paradigm of the national economy state regulation

*V.G. Kabanov, Ph.D , Assistant Professor of International Business Department, «KROK» University
kvg1254@gmail.com*

*K.V. Tsekov, Master's Degree student «KROK» University
akafose@ukr.net*

Research Methodology. By means of the systemic approach factors, which influence the state regulation of the economy, are investigated and their classification is carried out. Trends of the alteration in the state regulation are emphasized.

Results. Approaches to the role of state and state regulation in future are stressed. Factors that influence state regulation are classified and major trends of the changes in state regulation in the next decade are pointed out. On this basis key requirements to the building of paradigm of the state regulation are formulated.

Novelty. Objective factors of influence on the state regulation of economy are disclosed. Classification of the state regulation's factors is carried through.

The practical significance. On the basis of conducted research requirements to the building of state regulation paradigm are formed, that creates scientific base for the formation of more effective state policy.