

Change management in the system of economic security entities

*V.H. Alkema, Doctor in Economic Sciences, Professor, Head of Managerial Technologies Department,
«KROK» University
viktor.alkema@gmail.com*

*O.S. Kyrychenko, PhD in Economics, Associate Professor of Managerial Technologies Department,
«KROK» University
OK872@ukr.net*

Research Methodology: Using a systematic approach, methods of analysis and synthesis the concept of change management in the system of economic security, as the new process, which is used at various levels of government and is an integral part of economic security of economic entities management was analyzed and generalized.

Results: Analysis of the theoretical basis of establishment and the current state of changes management in the system of economic security of economic entities was conducted. The management model of changes in the system of economic security of economic entities based on the use of two main tools: forecasting and adaptation, as well as measures to improve change management mechanism in the system of economic security were proposed.

Novelty: Objective preconditions of mechanism of change management formation in the system of economic security of economic entities were revealed. We developed a model of change management in the system of economic security of economic activities entities based on the use of two basic components: forecasting and adaptation.

The practical significance: On the basis of the enhanced research methodology change management in the system of economic security of economic entities the practical recommendations were developed that allow to predict changes, implement timely pre-emptive action to minimize the negative impact of negative actions that can occur, as in the present and in the future.