

The concept of the national policy of the Soviet power on the Donbass (1943-1985 years)

I. Balykin, PhD, lecturer Chamber of the History and Theory of State and Law

University of economic and law "KROK"

IvanB@krok.edu.ua

Research Methodology. Theoretical and methodological basis of the article are the principles of objectivity, historicism, scientism comprehensiveness of the history, systemic, dialectical development and multilateralism, specificity, multidimensionality and reliance on historical sources, which together allow a sufficient completeness to reveal both general and specific features Concept of national policy of Soviet power on the Donbass in the 1943-1985 years. For their implementation, methods of analysis, synthesis, induction, deduction, abstraction, problem-historical retrospective analysis were used.

Results. An uncovered concept and implementation of national policy on the Donbass. The official position of Soviet power in national politics during the 1943-1985 years was traced, the ideological apparatus statement was analyzed, and the ideology and practice of the Donbass during those years were compared.

Novelty. The concept of implementation of the national policy of Soviet power on the Donbass during 1943-1985 years was studied, which is an important example to the experience gained in the process of formulating a national policy of Ukraine.

The practical significance. The experience of previous years of Soviet power in our country is important. The results can be used to study the theoretical and applied problems of state building processes in post-Soviet countries, and further development of Ukrainian national policies.