

Modern going near understanding of concept «safety of labour» and «safety of labour of a buildenterprise»

*V.Andrienko, Ph.D., associate professor,
University of Economics and Law “KROK” andrienko-vm@ukr.net*

Survey Methodology. Using a systematic approach in investigates various scientific approaches of modern scientists to solve the problem of the definition of “work`s safety”. Based on the use of methods of analysis and synthesis, induction and deduction formulated the new concept of “Safety” and “Safety” in the construction business.”

Results. The modern approach to the interpretation of the term “work`s safety”. The relation between the concepts of “labor protection”, “safety”, “industrial sanitation”, “occupational health” and “work`s safety”. The connection between safety and economic security of the system construction company.

Novelty. The author definition of “work`s safety” and “work`s safety in the construction business”. The structural and logical scheme that reveals the nature and relationships of concepts such as “working conditions in construction”, “Health in construction enterprises”, “Occupational Health in Construction” and “Safety in the construction business.”

The practical significance. Based on the improved research methodology safety on construction enterprises as economic security subsystem construction companies introduced new concepts that will help develop a new approach to the study of this problem.