

Formation of strategy of food provision of the region as a factor of economic security of Ukraine

Y.V. Nikishyn, Postgraduate student, Department of Financial and Economic Security Management

«KROK» University

Niki_nik@ua.fm

Research Methodology: By the method of analysis the components of the food security system in the region were defined. Using a systematic approach the components of the food security strategy in the region and their interrelation were investigated. General logical methods the algorithm of formation of the strategy of food security in the region was analyzed.

Results: The current state of implementation of the strategy of food security in the region as part of the strategy of economic security of the state was analyzed. Main parameters of the strategy and criteria of its evaluation were identified. The algorithm of the formation of the food security strategy in the region as a factor of national security was proposed.

Novelty: The definition of the concept of “food security in the region” as a coherent system of production, storage and distribution of food, requiring a strategic government support and management was offered. The methodological approaches to strategy development and implementation of food security in the region were offered.

The practical significance: Based on the study of food security components of economic security in the region the practical recommendations that can serve as a scientific basis for the formation of the strategy of food security in the region, monitoring and prediction of long-term development of agro-industries were developed. This will increase the level of food security of the country.