

Modernization of functions of the economic security service of medium-sized enterprise entities

*H.B. Sichyokno, Postgraduate student, «KROK» University
gbasp@ukr.net*

Research methodology. Using the system approach, the economic security service functions of medium-sized enterprise entities on their adequacy to modern economic conditions, were investigated.

Results. Modern approaches of definition of basic functions of the economic security service of medium-sized enterprise entities in up-to-date economic conditions were considered. Priority directions of modernization of functions of the economic security service of medium-sized enterprise entities, which carries out the activity in complex conditions with high level of ambiguity of processes, which occur in national economy, were suggested.

Novelty. In existing systems of economic security of medium-sized enterprise entities in Ukraine, functions of economic security service not to the full allow for up-to-date economic conditions and dynamics of their changes. In the article, priority ways of modernization of separate functions of the economic security service of medium-sized enterprise entities were suggested and necessity of this was proved.

The practical significance. Practical recommendations of modernization of separate functions of economic security service of average business entities in certain priority directions were given. It will allow providing timely adaptation of these functions to today's requirements, to reach coordination with all internal and external subjects of system of economic security, and to co-ordinate the joint actions for adequate counteraction to both external and internal dangers and threats in modern economic conditions.