

Instruments of State Support of Innovative Activity of Agroindustrial Enterprises of Ukraine in the context of Economic Security of Subjects of Household Management

*L. Maxymchuk, senior lecturer of Economics and Enterprise Management Department, «KROK» University
Lesyamax@ukr.net*

Research Methodology: By means of the method of system analysis and synthesis the concept of innovations, innovative activity, problems of the innovative provision of agroindustrial enterprises and instruments of state support of innovative activity of agroindustrial sector of Ukraine in the context of economic security of household subjects are investigated.

Results: The modern state of innovative activity of agroindustrial enterprises of Ukraine is analyzed. The problems of innovative activity in industry and instruments of state support in the field of scientific development in the context of economic security of household subjects are outlined.

Novelty: It is discovered that realization of model of innovative development of agrarian sector of economy of Ukraine deviates from the set direction of motion which needs government control. Directions and instruments of activation of innovative processes in agroindustrial complex of Ukraine in the context of economic security of household subjects are offered.

The practical significance: Practical recommendations of launch of innovational activity of agroindustrial enterprises, which can be considered as a scientific base for formation of strategies and programs of long-term development of agroindustrial complex and consist of public bodies and scientific establishments of economic type, are developed.